Bennett denies area political ambitions

By RICH ADAMS
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett Wednesday denied reports that he will be a candidate for state highway commissioner.
The mayor called the reports "rumors" in an interview at City Hall Wednesday.
Bennett also denied reports his alleged campaign would depend on heavy financial support from Broadway and Seal, a Picayune engineering firm which has been involved on city projects.

"First, I am not running (for highway commissioner) and secondly, I have never asked anyone to contribute anything to any of my campaigns," Bennett said Wednesday.

He did not further elaborate on his future political plans after denying the reports.

Also in Wednesday's interview, Bennett said reports of alleged sabotage at a major sewer line break on Carroll Avenue in Bay St. Louis are not true.

"How in the world could anyone sabotage a sewer line repair job," the mayor said.

Numerous problems have plagued the project, culminating with a water main break which lowered water pressure in the city.

The reports alleged the sabotage was intended to discredit Brown Engineers, Incorporated, the Gulfport engineering firm assigned to repair the Carroll Avenue break.

The job has reportedly cost the city some $25,000 thus far, including $3,875 in engineering fees alone.

The initial estimated project cost on March 13 was projected as being $10,067, which escalated to more than $18,000 by March 21.

Following the water main break, Mayor Bennett stated in a WLOX-TV news interview the sewage could possibly have contaminated Bay St. Louis drinking water.

"You don't have to be an engineer to realize that," Bennett said Wednesday.

CD seeks relief vehicle, storm shelter volunteers

By EDGAR PEREZ
Paramedics, nurses and others trained in basic and advanced first aid are being sought as volunteers to staff hurricane shelter in Hancock County, as well as the new Red Cross emergency relief vehicle.

Hancock County Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin said this week he is now staffing hurricane shelters in the county well in advance of the June through October hurricane season.

"New people are moving into Hancock County continuously, many of them with valuable training in emergency aid fields—we need to know who they are and how they can be reached in time of need," Boudin said.

In addition, we now have emergency relief vehicles operated in the county by the American Red Cross.

We need volunteers trained in first aid to man this vehicle which is more than just a coffee wagon," the official continued.

"We want this Red Cross vehicle to be staffed by persons able to render assistance to a fireman who might be injured while fighting a blaze," Boudin explained.

"Anytime area firemen are called out on a major fire, they are usually on the scene for hours and hours. Our relief vehicles should be on the scene also, providing refreshment and first aid if necessary," Boudin elaborated.

"But so far, we don't have the necessary list of qualified volunteers we can call upon to bring the wagon to the scene of these types of emergencies," Boudin said.

Persons properly trained who might be interested in hurricane shelter or Red Cross vehicle volunteer work should call the Hancock County Civil Defense office at 467-9228.

Boudin said in addition to himself, prospective volunteers may discuss the programs with Civil Defense Secretary Dorothy Bielestein.

Also named as a new officer of the bank is Everett Lewis, also of Pass Christian, who has been promoted to an assistant loan officer's position.

Seal said the board promoted a total of seven officers and elected two other new officers in addition to Monti and Lewis.

Others promoted are Charles L. Eastland, from assistant vice president and trust officer to vice president and trust officer; Carroll A. Kemp, Jr., from assistant vice president to vice president; David L. Mills, from assistant vice president to vice president.

Billy Sills announces candidacy

BILLY D. SILLS

Billy D. Sills, principal of North Bay Elementary School, has announced his candidacy as Hancock County Superintendent of Education.

Sills, 44, a native of Kiln, received his bachelor of science degree from Mississippi College in 1968.

He received a masters degree in school administration and guidance from Mississippi College in 1968, and a specialist degree in school administration and guidance in 1972 from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Sills was a basketball coach at Boguchitto School in Lincoln County for two years, a basketball coach and teacher at Hancock North Central for three years, and has been with the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District for 16 years.

He has been principal of North Bay for nine years.

"I would appreciate your vote and support," Sills said.

Chamber calls for second joint school boards meet

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce board of Directors this week resolved to continue its ombudsman role in bringing together the county's two school boards to discuss mutual problems.

The board pointedly avoided use of the term "consolidation" in its resolution calling for an early-April meeting of the Chamber's executive committee and members of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate and Hancock County School Districts' Boards of Trustees.

Emphasis at the proposed meeting should be placed on "mutual problems" with an eye toward possible school district merger action expected during the 1980 session of the State Legislature, according to directors Randolph Bourgeois and L.J. Breaux.

The Chamber board's decision to seek a second meeting of the two school boards under Chamber auspices came on a motion by Wayne Ducomb at a Tuesday night meeting in Chamber offices on US-90 in Bay St. Louis.

Chamber President Richard Thomas said he feels a previous meeting called by the Chamber last month was "highly productive" even though the County Board representation was sparse, consisting of Superintendent Terry Randolph and Board Member Louis Ladner.

"We found at that first meeting that it is quite possible for these two school boards to work together in several areas," Thomas said. "There was a

Lila Taylor will seek clerks post

LILA LADNER TAYLOR

Lila Ladner Taylor of Bay St. Louis has announced her candidacy as Hancock County Chancery Court clerk.

Ms. Taylor, 31, is a native of Bay St. Louis and a housewife. She was unsuccessful in a 1975 campaign for Chancery Court clerk.

She is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy in Bay St. Louis.

Ms. Taylor and her husband, William, live on St. Charles Street in Bay St. Louis.

They have two children, Gerald 4, and Reagan, 2.

"In my last attempt for the office of Chancery clerk, I appreciated all the help from the voters in the county and would be grateful for your continued help and support," Ms. Taylor said.

considerable expression of mutual trust," the Chamber president added.

Randolph last week attempted to convene a meeting of the two boards, but was unsuccessful after some members of both boards balked at a "closed door" policy of the gathering suggested by Randolph.

The public was barred from the Chamber's first meeting with the school boards, a meeting prompted by the County Board's failure to pass a capital improvements bond issue and the need to find classroom space for expanding student populations in both districts.

The Chamber board Tuesday discussed the pros and cons of specifying whether its meetings with the school boards be opened or closed to the public, but no decision was reached.

Ole Miss aid applications still accepted

Students who miss this spring's financial aid deadlines may not be too late to get help with college expenses, says the director of financial aid at The University of Mississippi.

High school and junior college students who have not yet filed applications for financial aid have missed the March 1 and April 1 deadlines, but should still submit the forms, says Sidney Tate.

"Students who file applications after the deadlines still will be considered for financial aid, although their applications will receive a lower priority than those of students who have applied on time," Tate said.

March 1 was the deadline for filing the Financial Aid Form (FAF) with the College Scholarship Service. Many colleges use the FAF to establish eligibility for institutionally-based financial aid and Basic Grants.

April 1 was the deadline for filing a separate University application for financial aid at Ole Miss. Students applying for financial aid usually must also submit an application for admission to the university of their choice, Tate said.

For more information about financial aid, contact Sidney Tate, Financial Aid Department, University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677.

QUESTION: Will the addition of raw eggs to my twelve-year old Cocker Spaniel's diet help keep him healthy?

ANSWER: Eggs are a good and nutritional food, but dogs cannot digest eggs properly unless they have been cooked in some manner. For sometime raw eggs were thought to be an excellent food source; however, we know that a portion of the egg's nutritional value can only be digested by the dog after undergoing some form of cooking such as boiling, frying or poaching.

In order for your dog to get the full nutritional value of eggs, you should cook them before feeding. The heat of the cooking process renders a change in the composition of the egg, and makes it a much more digestible food supplement than feeding of raw eggs.

In older dogs that might have trouble with high protein diets, the addition of two cooked eggs three times a week to a cereal (dry) type dog food is a very good idea. Another good supplement for older dogs is the use of a low-fat cottage cheese mixed with the dry dog food every two to three days.

Food Choices in the Teen Years

Adolescence signals the age of independent choices including daily food selections. The food choices made are important because what they eat affects not only their health, but their looks, disposition, and performance.

The rapid growth of the teen years result in requiring more of certain nutrients than adults. Food selections should be made on a "think nutrients" basis. In other words, select foods for their high nutrient content. Teen diets are usually lowest in calcium, iron and vitamin C. Milk and milk foods like cheese, yogurt, ice cream and custard can supply the needed calcium for bone growth. Four servings daily answer the needs of the adolescent diet.

Iron comes from the Meat Group and is needed for blood and aids in the utilization of energy. Meat and meat alternates should be included two times a day.

Our bodies do not store vitamin C so one vitamin C rich food each day, like oranges or other citrus fruits, or broccoli, assure the teenager he is getting the correct amount of this vitamin. A total of four generous servings daily from the Fruit-Vegetable Group help to add points to the teen's nutrient score card.

Grains help give the needed calories for energy as well as iron and some B vitamins. Four servings daily give the teen up and go for school and action.

Clothing Choices Reflect Individuality of Consumer

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Clothing is more than a necessity. Besides meeting physical needs, clothing expresses individuality.

"To make the kind of statement you want, choose clothes carefully," advises Marguerite Davis, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service clothing specialist. "Take time to examine garments and compare prices."

If you want high-quality clothes, you don't necessarily have to pay high prices. Miss Davis suggests inspecting clothes for these signs of good workmanship: wide, finished seams reinforced at points of stress; short, secure stitching; wide, flat hems; buttonholes properly placed, sized and sewn; firmly attached fastenings; neat, coordinated trimmings; smooth linings; secure, working zippers; and a generous fabric allowance. "The way a garment is cut, put together, and finished affects its appearance, fit and durability," says Miss Davis. "A well-made garment is usually, in the long run, the best buy."

Reduce costs by postponing or eliminating some purchases, waiting for sales or promotions, and planning your wardrobe around one or two basic color groups so accessories can be mixed and matched.

Decide in advance how much money you want to devote to clothing care. Do the garments require ironing, hand washing or dry cleaning?

Regardless of a garment's quality, price, appropriateness and attractiveness, if it doesn't fit well, it will feel uncomfortable and be a bad buy. Try on all garments before buying. Sit down, bend and stretch.

If alterations are necessary in the collar, shoulders or chest, it would probably be best to look for something else. Alterations for women's clothes are often expensive and unsuccessful. Hemlines and pleats in durable press clothing cannot be altered without leaving permanent lines and creases.

These five questions will serve as a guide to good buying. Ask yourself: Does the garment improve my appearance? Is it comfortable? Does it fit into my wardrobe? Where can I wear it? Is it "me"?

"Make sure you like the clothing you're about to buy. If you're not enthusiastic about an item, you'll probably like it even less when you get it home," adds the specialist.

ARCHITECT'S RENDERING—Phillips College broke ground Tuesday for a major new building on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The new facility will house both the business and technology departments of the college. Gerald C. Phillips, chairman of the board, said the building will contain over 21,600 square feet of floor space, and the entire project, including new furniture and equipment, will represent a total investment of more than $1 million. Site of the new college facility is on East Beach in Gulfport, on Paradise Point.

know who is in worse shape than I am."

Brilliant, sensual, uniquely talented, Montgomery Clift blazed into public prominence in the 1950's with his appearances in such films as "Red River", "A Place in the Sun," and "From Here to Eternity."

Unquestionably one of the finest actors of our time, Clift was idolized by thousands and deeply admired by his peers, yet his personal life was filled with rages, addictions and sexual conflicts.

In MONTGOMERY CLIFT: A Biography, to be published in Bantam paperback on April 1, Patricia Bosworth reveals the full story of his life in what Newsweek called "one of the best film-star biographies in years."

Of Clift's biographers, Bosworth is the only one to have had the full cooperation of Clift's family and friends and the only writer allowed full access to their papers.

In MONTGOMERY CLIFT, Bosworth traces the actor's life from his childhood to his untimely death. Raised in grand style by a mother obsessed with her unrecognized "thoroughbred" birthright, Clift burst onto the Broadway stage at the age of 12, became a protegee of the Lunts, and by the age of 30, was Hollywood's most sought-after star.

Clift's Hollywood success, however, only intensified the problems in his stormy personal life - riddled with self-doubt, he was constantly tormented by his own bisexuality and his growing addictions to both pills and liquor.

When a tragic car crash scarred and paralyzed the left side of his face in 1956, Clift began a ten-year slide of self-destruction that ended with his death in 1966.

Yet, his gifted performances, his portrayals of rebels and loners set a new artistic example for stage and screen that have profoundly influenced succeeding generations of actors.

Play that again, Thad

Senator Thad Cochran, in a report from his office in Washington last week, tells of an apparently noteworthy bill he has introduced to give states veto power over Federal decisions to locate potentially dangerous nuclear wastes within their boundaries.

Cochran's closing statement in the report, however, gives one pause:

"I believe that once we have devised a safe method for nuclear waste disposal, whether it be salt dome deposit or some other alternative, we must insure that the public is not endangered by a wrong decision at the Federal level without full participation of those affected by the decision," the senator allows.

Does this mean that blunders involving potentially dangerous nuclear wastes are acceptable once approved on the local level?

Or is the senator saying it will probably be easier to lead the home folks down the primrose path to a nuclear depository in their backyards if parochial officials do the leading?

It sounds like our new man in Washington is more concerned with protecting Federal bureaucrats from blame than he is in protecting Mississippians from the dangers of radiation.

Or is it in the interest of proliferating nuclear power that these precautions are taken?

Such leadership could take us to the slaughter.

A dangerous violation of the law

There seems to be a growing number of motorists in Hancock County passing school buses loading or unloading students along the routes.

The buses' stop signs are out but too many motorists are ignoring those signs.

With the new Federal law which went into effect at the beginning of the current school year, there are more students than ever, especially in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, who ride the buses.

State law prohibits the passing of a bus when it is loading or unloading students. Buses are adequately equipped with lights and signs saying "STOP," but undoubtedly some do not appreciate the significance of the signs, and reasons for not passing a stopped school bus.

We are in hopes that the Hancock County Sheriff's office, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments will start issuing tickets to these careless motorists. Possibly a few fines will wake them up.

The lives of our children are precious, let's protect them as much as possible.

Washington Report

Mississippi Senator Thad Cochran has introduced a bill which will give states the opportunity to veto location of potentially dangerous nuclear waste disposal sites within their boundaries.

Salt domes located in Mississippi are now being viewed by the Department of Energy as possible nuclear waste disposal sites.

Cochran's legislation will allow the states concerned to participate in the decision-making process to determine where nuclear wastes may be stored.

"My bill will provide a state with the right to veto any sites within its boundaries by action of the state legislature or by submitting the questions to the people in a statewide referendum," Cochran said.

The Senator points out that 14 states including Mississippi have now passed resolutions requesting a voice in the storage of nuclear waste.

By providing states with the decision making option, Cochran said the federal government will be forced to seek available expertise on the unanswered questions regarding hazards that may be unknown.

Cochran added, "I believe that once we have devised a safe method for nuclear waste disposal, whether it be salt dome, deposit, or some other alternative, we must insure that the public is not endangered by a wrong decision at the federal level without full participation of those affected by the decision."

"Kidnap" suspects disappear

By RICH ADAMS

An Illinois man and Louisiana woman failed to appear before Justice Court Judge Lloyd Anderson last Thursday for a preliminary hearing on charges of conspiracy and giving false statements to law enforcement officers according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

The charges were laid against the pair in connection with a March 20 kidnapping hoax, the sheriff said.

Richard M. Corn, 41, 105 S. Eighth St., St. Joseph, Ill., and Marie W. Richard, 30, Rt. 5, Box 634, Opelousas, La., forfeited $350 each in bond money when they failed to show at the hearing.

The two were involved in a March 20 incident in which they allegedly staged a kidnapping in an effort to account for Corn's disappearance from Illinois on March 19.

In a statement by Corn, he explained the kidnapping scheme was contrived after he "abandoned his family" and then decided he could not remain away from his wife.

Corn tied himself up, with Ms. Richards help, and taped his mouth and eyes to make it appear as if he had been kidnapped.

Local law enforcement agencies discovered the hoax, and jailed Corn and Richard. The two were released in bond from Hancock County Jail Wednesday, March 21.

KIDNAP SCHEME—This rope, tape, and name tag are evidence collected by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner after he found Richard Corn of Illinois tied and gagged on I-10 near Diamondhead last week. Corn and an accomplice, Marie W. Richard of Louisiana, allegedly staged the incident to make it appear as if Corn had been kidnapped. The two failed to appear Thursday at a preliminary hearing in Justice Court. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Dog owners praise Humane Society

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

On or about the last of Feb. we received a call from the Warden of Waveland saying that he had placed up an injured Labrador on the highway and asked if the Bay-Waveland Humane Society would be responsible for the vet bill.

We promptly said okay! Well, unfortunately, the animal died.

The letter enclosed was sent to us and as you know we receive very few pets on the back so we are hoping you will publish this charming letter for us.

I called Mrs. Nolan and she said it is alright with her.

Thank you,
Rosemary Malandra
Secretary
Bay-Waveland Humane Society

March 1, 1979

Mrs. Malandra:

Please accept with thanks, the enclosed check. We do appreciate the attention given the Labrador, my daughter befriended.

We all miss her very much. She was such an affectionate dog.

Our daughter and son-in-law (Lynn and Coelia Gensler) join us in hoping the Bay-Waveland Humane Society continues to grow as time goes on.

We do need people who care for helpless stray animals.

With our best wishes for a successful rummage sale in May.

We will attempt to locate items you can use.

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. James Nolan
P.S. Your dog warden (Joe Schultz) is to be commended for his concern.

Editor:

I am writing in regards to an article on Mr. Sylvan Ladner which appeared in your paper dated March 15, 1979.

I am a concerned citizen, taxpayer and voter in Hancock County.

Mr. Ladner has held a very confining and time consuming job since he had surgery June 7, 1977.

Now 21 months later he has been advised he is not capable of holding the job of sheriff of our county.

I ask the voters of Hancock County to think of the abilities all candidates have when the August primary election arrives.

I feel each and every political office is a very important part of our county.

Sincerely,

Joe Ladner

Mrs. Carmen Labat welcomes visitors

March 27, 1979
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

Because the citizens of Bay St. Louis have every reason to admire and respect Carmen Labat, wife of the late Joseph Labat and now a resident of Miramar Village Nursing Home in Pass Christian, I would like to pass along information concerning this 81-year-old lady.

Mrs. Labat tells me that she is happy in the home. She has been there over two and a half years.

Although she is a wheel-chair patient, she is alert and cheerful and grateful for attention from the nursing staff, the therapist, and her children who include Joseph Jr., Bernard and Ruddy Labat, all of Bay St. Louis, and Mimes. Ernestine Michoux of San Francisco and Gloria Quarrels of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I could still crochet if I wanted to," declared Mrs. Labat. "I just don't have the interest anymore."

She did, however, take up a bit of painting through instructions given at the home, and loves "dabbling around with colors."

Mrs. Labat enjoys visitors. Bay St. Louis friends would be welcomed should they drop in for a visit.

Sincerely,

St. Augustine's prayer lives on

March 28, 1979
Sea Coast Echo

Editor:

In the early beginnings of the Christian Calendar, a boy child was born at Tagaste in Numidia, North Africa. The year was 354.

During his life span of 76 years he accomplished much.

Educated at Carthage and a student of philosophy, Augustine taught and produced great writings, leaving an influence felt throughout the world today.

In Bay St. Louis we are especially aware of St. Augustine, for the seminary here named in his honor is one of our town's landmarks.

As the Easter Season approaches it seems fitting and proper that we contemplate the deep message recorded in St. Augustine's Prayer for Peace with a petition as applicable today as when it was first written many centuries ago.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S PRAYER FOR PEACE

O, God of Peace, we turn aside from an unquiet world, seeking rest for our spirits, and light for our thoughts.

We bring our work to be sanctified, our wounds to be healed, our sins to be forgiven, our hopes to be renewed, our better selves to be quickened. O Thou, in whom there is harmony, draw us to thyself, and silence the discords of our wasteful lives.

Thou who are one in all, and in whom all are one, take us out of the loneliness of self, and fill us with the fullness of Thy truth and love.

Thou whose greatness is beyond our highest praise, lift us above our common littleness and our daily imperfections; send us visions of the love that is in Thee and of the good that may be in us.

Sincerely,
Joe Pilet

Save the Bay wins in rail spur bout

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Save the Bay has been granted a preliminary injunction against defendants in a case involving construction on a 13.1 mile railroad spur to DuPont's Deltale plant.

Judge William Harold Cox of U.S. District Court in Jackson rendered the decision last Friday.

The injunction requires federal defendants to prepare an environmental impact statement. The judge's decision also requires the statement be filed in 30 days, said Robert Smith, an attorney for Save the Bay.

In the case, Save the Bay names Dupont, Harrison County Development Commission, Harrison County Board of Supervisors, Southern Mississippi Transportation Committee, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and others as defendants, said Smith.

"Environmental impact statements usually take two to six months to prepare," Smith added. "I don't know how they are going to do it in 30 days."

"I'll tell you what," elaborated Smith. "We will give them a time extension to prepare their environmental impact statement, if they promise to turn their bulldozers off while they prepare it."

Smith said Cox's ruling for other defendants in the case, states, "Other defendants enjoined to establish a course of conduct and operation under the act (National Environmental Policy Act) to assure the plaintiff that it will have and enjoy all of the rights and privileges and benefits to which it is entitled under the wholesome policies announced by the Congress for the application and enforcement of this act."

Smith contends the spur will induce development by industry of 20,000 acres surrounding the short railroad track. He further alleges Harrison County Development Commission is encouraging heavy industry to locate and develop in the area of the spur.

"We're trying to prevent the induced industrial development in that area," emphasizes Smith.

Board plans erection of historical marker

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors this week approved a Mississippi Department of Archives and History request to erect a marker on the Courthouse lawn in Bay St. Louis honoring Publius Rutillus Rufus Pray of Pearlington.

Supervisor approval of the marker commemorating the former Hancock County judge came during the Board's meeting Tuesday morning.

Born 1793 in Maine, Pray had also served as president of the Mississippi Constitutional Convention, member of the Mississippi House of Representatives and judge of the High Court of Errors and Appeals.

The Department of Archives recommended Mrs. Margaret Gibbons, the Department's Historic Sites chairman, to decide the exact placement of the marker.

The Mississippi Highway Department will be responsible for the marker's delivery and erection.

In other business, the Board passed a resolution supporting creation of a Tri-County Coastal Relocation Commission, or any appropriately named commission that will relocate Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks within Hancock County to provide better accessibility to all parts of the County for emergency vehicles.

Additionally, Beat One Supervisor Bert Courregue commended the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for recently replacing defective rails and ties within Hancock County.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro moved to employ Hancock County youths who qualify under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) for the County's Mosquito Control Program.

"Previously only Harrison County youths have been working in the Mosquito program—this year I want to see some Hancock County youths employed under the program," said Perniciaro.

The Board unanimously approved

Perniciaro's motion.

Each county also continues to apply at the local CETA employment offices in their respective counties.

Perniciaro, in addition, moved the Mississippi Power Co. be requested to relocate several telephone poles away from the shoulder of Central Avenue in Bay St. Louis between St. Charles and Washington Streets.

The motion, which calls for the poles to be located nearer to railroad tracks parallel to Central Avenue, was unanimously approved by the Board.

In other matters, Supervisors authorized advertisement for bids on improvements at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

The Board recently authorized issuance of $100,000 in Fairground Bonds through Hancock Bank at 6 percent interest.

In 1974, $75,000 in bonds were issued to finance improvements at the Fairgrounds.

When the Board issued the $100,000 bonds this year the balance due on the 1974 issue was $68,000. The $100,000 was used to retire the $68,000 debt, and will finance $32,000 in further improvements at funds.

The improvements include completion of a partially constructed exhibition building and construction of dressing rooms, concession stands and an exhibition barn for swine.

The $100,000 in bonds will be retired with funds yielded by a quarter-mill previously set aside for the purpose of paying Fairgrounds' expenses.

In other Board happenings:

Beat Five Supervisor James Travira, who was absent from the meeting, was appointed by the Board as temporary energy coordinator for Hancock County in conjunction with a Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District program.

Bids on construction of Preacher Powell Road in Supervisor Alton Keller's Beat Two and relocation of a water line, also in Keller's Beat, were taken under advisement.

Union teachers seek job status changes

Two Hancock County local delegates to the Mississippi Federation of Teachers state convention in Jackson recently participated in drafting proposed legislation which would classify teachers as state employees and raise teacher salaries to the state employee level.

Sandra Gray of Hancock North Central Junior High, president of Hancock County Local, American Federation of Teachers, and Hancock AFT member Merle Segari represented the county teachers' union at the March 13 and 14 meeting.

Ms. Gray said eight legislative proposals agreed upon at the convention will be presented to the 1980 session of the State Legislature.

The eight proposals include:

- Raise teacher's salary to state employee average.
- Classify teachers as state employees for benefits, insurance and other purposes.
- Pass a retirement law using two percent as the factor.
- Repeal the school employment act.
- Limit classroom attendance in grades one 1-3 to 24 students.
- Consolidate all school administrative units to one per county.
- Authorize one year of sabbatical leave with pay for teachers with 10 years of experience.

Ms. Gray said legislators were present at the convention to answer questions posed by groups of teachers. Senator Halton Alfred Miller, District 15; Charles J. Lippman, Jackson County; and Robert G. Clark Jr., District 16, composed the panel of legislators. Gene Didier, associated with the southeastern teacher's unions, and New Orleans AFT President Nat Lacour spoke to the group.

The theme of Lacour's address was "politicians have been in education for a long time...and now it is time for educators to get into politics."

Also at the convention, James Kater of Gulfport, who is that city's AFT local president, was elected to succeed Raymond D. Magallanes as state president.

Bay mayor seeks extra gas tax revenue

By RICH ADAMS

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Wednesday he is confident the Bay St. Louis City Council will approve the city's joining other Mississippi municipalities in a class action suit against the State seeking a higher percentage of gasoline tax revenues.

If the suit is successful, the additional tax monies will be used to repair what Bennett called "deplorable conditions" of streets in Bay St. Louis.

The class action suit is being filed against the state by the Mississippi Municipal Association (MMA) in an attempt to "get a fair distribution of gasoline taxes."

In a letter to the mayor, MMA President Harris Harvey said the state collected some $147 million in gasoline taxes, yet the 228 municipalities in the state received less than one percent of those revenues.

Harvey states municipalities receive 0.97 percent of the monies, while 32 percent of total mileage driven on state roads was logged within city limits.

Counties in the state receive some 20 percent of total tax monies for road repair and upkeep, but county roads only logged 17 percent of total mileage statewide.

Mayor Bennett said the MMA has asked Bay St. Louis to "join in this great undertaking" along with six other municipalities which have already resolved to do so.

Bennett said he will ask the council to pass a resolution supporting the MMA suit at next Tuesday's council meeting.

"I will urge the council to join forces with the association," Bennett said.

Bennett said the MMA has not agreed on what percentage of the total statewide revenue it will ask for.

The mayor stressed he is not "fighting the county supervisors" for the money, adding the breakdown of funds was determined by the state.

"I am not fighting the (Hancock County) Board of Supervisors. The supervisors here in no way am I at odds with them," Bennett explained.

"For years the supervisors were in the same situation that we are in now," he added.

Bennett is not sure from which department the additional money will be taken, but said he thinks the funds may come from the State Highway Department, which receives more than 72 percent of taxes.

"I think the state will start by whacking away at the state highway funds," the mayor said.

Bennett said the City of Jackson has adopted a resolution joining in the MMA crusade, and added he believes Bay St. Louis will adopt a similar resolution.

of the annual event.

As local NLW chairman, Seal will be responsible for planning area activities for the April 1-7 event. He is one of many concerned and interested library supporters who are serving in this position across the state.

The goal for National Library Week 1979 is to make more visible the value of information services provided by public, school, college, university, church, hospital, business and law libraries in the economic, cultural, social and educational life of a community.

To accomplish this goal NLW local chairmen all over the state will be scheduling events that will draw public attention to library services.

"The theme for National Library Week this year is 'The Library is Filled With Success Stories,'" said Seal. "We want people to realize just how much they can benefit economically, culturally, socially, and educationally by using their library on a regular basis."

"I encourage every person in Hancock County to visit at least one library during National Library Week and see just how much libraries have to offer," he continued.

Field Day Saturday is the kick-off event for National Library Week at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The chairman of the event, Billy Rhodes, director of the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds, has announced that this year will be bigger and better with a few more competitive events added to the line-up.

This year a hoola-hoop contest will be held for boys as well as girls.

Sack races, three-legged races, the egg throw, balloon blowing contest, the checkers tournament, and the broad jump will all be held again.

The horseshoe competition between the Mayors of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be held at noon followed by John Rutherford against Mike Neece, Donn Murray against Ronnie Murray, and other scheduled horseshoe contests.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner will play the winner of the Rutherford-Neece match.

The Friends of the Library will be set up at the concessions stands selling hot dogs and cold drinks and will also have their annual book sale and T-shirt sale.

Announcer for all events will be Ted Morel.

The Field Day committee consists of Billy Rhodes, chairman; Fran Trombley, Judy McCormick, Ronnie Murray, Ann Bolton, Cindy Geggelheimer, Cathy Johnston, and Terri Murtagh.

As part of Hancock County National Library Week activities, an exhibit by artist Neil Ducomb will open at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 1, at City-County Library.

Mrs. Ducomb, a resident of Hancock County, began painting and drawing at an early age and later attended art school in New Orleans.

After completing art school, her studies continued with various artists including watercolor with John Gaddis and oil landscaping with George Cherapoo.

She is a former two-term president of the Hancock Art League, a member of the Gulf Coast Art Association and the Ocean Springs Art Association.

Her recent one-man shows were presented at the Hewes Brothers Gallery in Gulfport and the Long Beach Library.

She is also among the artists exhibiting at the Harbor Square Gallery in Gulfport.

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening of this exhibit at City-County Library on April 1. The exhibit will be on display throughout the month of April.

Colby Brian Fabian, noted pianist, will perform a program of ten Chopin selections at City-County Public Library at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 1.

A Bay St. Louis resident and native of New Orleans, Fabian studied piano with Istvan Nadas at Loyola University and with Walter Goldstein and Lucile Snyder at Tulane University.

He completed work at Sherwood Music School in Chicago and post-graduate work under Sylvia Zarembo.

Fabian has many recitals and concerts to his credit as well as fifteen years of private teaching experience.

The public is cordially invited to attend the performance. A reception will follow in the Crawford Room.

on the type meeting to be held in April. Issues of mutual concern to the two school boards which were slated for discussion at Randolph's proposed meeting last week include a special education center, unified transportation system, and centralized food purchasing.

Educational concerns predominated Tuesday's Chamber meeting, where representatives of the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg and Gulf Park and Pearl River Junior College's Hancock County Vo-Tech Center reported on adult education opportunities in this area.

"There's a real educational opportunity just up the highway here (Stennis Field Vo-Tech Center) where a person can begin the freshman and sophomore years of college education," said William (Bud) Kirkpatrick, USM's public relations director.

Al Bourgeois, Hancock Vo-Tech director, said his campus "can offer nine out of every ten courses needed by a freshman or sophomore college student."

"Our problem is numbers (of students), Bourgeois continued. "We need ten persons enrolled to organize a class," Bourgeois pointed out, "and frequently we get only six or eight and have to cancel the course for that term."

Chamber Director Randolph Bourgeois told Al Bourgeois the Vo-Tech Center should seek permission to adjust the ten-student minimum downward "until the program gets off the ground."

"You always have to make exceptions to rules designed for established programs when you are trying to get something new started," Randolph Bourgeois exhorted.

Nancy Curtin, financial aid officer on the Gulf Park campus, Long Beach, told the Chamber, "Money doesn't have to be a problem for the adult student desiring to continue his or her education."

"Federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) are available to part-time students," she noted, adding a variety of other grants and loans are available at the Long Beach center.

"The financial aid director at the Hattiesburg campus estimates 80 percent of the student body there is receiving some type of financial aid and we can offer the same thing at Gulf Park," Ms. Curtin stated.

"We are going to be highly visible in this area," Kirkpatrick said, "because we believe there is a market for adult education in Hancock County."

"We may be wrong," he continued, "there may not be such a need here, but we are going to test it to find out for sure."

In other business, the Chamber Board:

- Received a report from membership chairman Mary Perkins that membership in the Chamber now stands at 136. Perkins said she is currently developing a membership drive for the Chamber.

- Appointed Ms. Debbie Edwards to represent the Chamber at the this year's Gulfport Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

- Set April 19 at 7 a.m. at Wheel Inn for "Chamber Coffee" with U.S. Rep. Trent Lott as principal speaker.

- Received a report from Agriculture Chairman L.J. Breaux that the Gumbo Festival's Washington, D.C., party delegation will depart from Stennis Field April 24. The event is slated for April 25 in the nation's capital.

"It just stands to reason." The statement reportedly caused major concern among city businessmen who felt the mayor's words might have damaged the area's tourist industry.

Bennett said Wednesday he has received "a few calls from individuals," but noted no major concern about his remarks has been expressed to him.

Bennett expressed concern over the source of reports concerning his alleged regional political ambitions and the financing of such a campaign.

"The next time the SOB calls you, tell him to call me, I want to talk to him," Bennett said.

FOREIGN INVESTORS

A study conducted by the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry revealed that foreigners purchased 32,000 acres of Mississippi farmland between January 1977 and June 1978.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) office, said all farmland owned by foreign interests must be registered at the ASCS county office.

Foreigners who owned or had a five percent interest in farmland on February 1, 1979, must report ownership to ASCS by August 1, 1979. Those who acquire land after February 1, must report it within 90 days.

Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Georgia, and South Carolina accounted for 42 percent of the acreage purchased, and 20 states accounted for almost 90 percent of the total.

The USDA study indicated that American farmland is passing under foreign ownership at a rate of more than 500,000 acres per year.

SIGNUP

The 1979 Feed Grain and Wheat Program signup is being conducted at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

HATCHERY PRODUCTION

STATE CHICKS HATCHED

Broiler-type chicks hatched during 1978 totaled 263.1 million, 4 percent more than the 252.0 million a year earlier.

Hatching of egg-type chicks in 1978 decreased 2 percent to 13.2 million from the 1977 hatchery output of 13.5 million chicks.

BROILER PLACEMENTS

There were 282.3 million broiler chicks placed in the 52 week period from December 1977 through November 1978, up 15.1 million from 1977.

U.S. CHICKS HATCHED

Broiler-type chicks hatched during 1978 totaled 3.88 billion, 7 percent more than a year earlier.

Hatching of egg-type chicks in 1978 decreased 2 percent to 492 million, from the 1977 hatchery output of 502 million chicks.

U.S. BROILER PLACEMENTS

There were 3.66 billion broiler chicks placed in the 52 week period from December 1977 through November 1978, up 219 million from the preceding year.

Weekly placements reached a high of 77.5 million during the week ending May 27 and the low of 62.5 million was recorded during the week ending September 30.

County Agent's notes

FERTILIZER USE

Fertilizer is one of the best friends your garden has, but improper use can do more harm than good.

Granular fertilizer placed next to seed or newly set transplant can prevent germination or injure or kill the young plants.

When applying granular fertilizer, be sure to apply the correct amounts and keep it away from seeds and the roots of newly set transplants.

PREVENT EROSION
Each year, many of Mississippi's highly erodible soils lose up to 30 tons of valuable topsoil per acre to erosion.

With careful planning and management, you can stop some of these losses. Much erosion losses occurs in early spring during heavy rains and seedbed preparation.

For this reason, you should not pulverize soils subject to severe erosion until just before planting time. To improve water intake and reduce erosion, chisel plow or subsoil these soils on the contour early this spring. Also, you should establish sod on borders, drain ditches and adjustment strips to slow runoff and erosion.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT
Normal temperatures and above normal rainfall will characterize Mississippi weather through mid-April, even though a warm, dry period is expected in mid-March.

Late March and the first part of April may be cool and wet, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The average date of the last spring freeze occurs in the central and northern counties by the end of March.

Cooler than normal weather in early April suggest a late freeze may occur in these areas, say weather experts, who advise owners of fruit trees to take notes.

Rainfall in most areas will be greater than average. Growers should take advantage of the generally warm, dry weather expected through March 23 to complete spring plowing, seedbed preparation and application of preplant herbicides.

Corn now being seeded in south Mississippi should

The signup period was lengthened from April 16 through April 30 to allow employees more time to process crop certifications. Gennin says farmers can now certify their fall-seeded crops at signup and not have to make a separate visit to the county office.

The set-aside program offers farmers deficiency and disaster payments for barley, corn, sorghum and wheat on the participating farm; voluntary diversion payments for corn and grain sorghum; and price support loans for all eligible crop acreage grown on the farm.

Gennin says deficiency and disaster payments also apply to rice and cotton crops but payments and price support loans for these crops will not be made if a set-aside crop is grown on a farm that does not participate in the program.

In considering the program, farmers should be aware that the grain reserve is reaching its goal and they may need the price protection offered through the set-aside program.

They may also wish to consider using a pre-measurement service before planting to guarantee the size of their fields. More information on pre-measurement and the set-aside program may be obtained from the local ASCS office.

Sun chases rain and clouds away for Annunciation's annual Spring field day

The thrill of victory..... The agony of defeat

Alright...we won!!

Annunciation Catholic School in Kiln recently conducted its annual field day, the rain and clouds disappearing to dry the field in time for the events.

The yearly physical fitness program is sponsored by the sixth grade and involves all students from kindergarten to the sixth grade.

Ms. Darlene Lott was in charge of the events, which included softball throw, high jump, obstacle course, broad jump, sack races, three-legged races, dashes, and relays.

In the morning, the students and faculty competed in a basketball free throw contest inside the school.

The kindergarten competed in five and ten yard relays, and a volleyball game was conducted between the fifth and sixth grade, the sixth grade winning 45-13.

Policy language tricky, Consumer Agent warns

MONEY TALKS
By NORINE BARNES
Extension Specialist

Words commonly used one way by consumers may have different meanings in health insurance policies. It is important to know how a policy defines the terms it uses.

Health insurance policies are legal documents, and therefore, their content is carefully worded and precisely written.

One crucial definition is what the policy means by "sickness." This term is usually used in conjunction with determining exclusions for pre-existing conditions.

Policies usually talk about sickness being "manifested" after the effective date of the policy or "contracted" after the policy began. It is preferable to have a policy with the first phrasing.

A person may have contracted an illness and not yet know it at the time a policy goes into effect. If the policy covers illness "contracted" after the policy is effective, the company could exclude an illness not previously diagnosed.

Also important is the definition of "injury." Some policies define "injury" as any accidentally bodily injury that happens while the policy is in effect. Others may define it as bodily injury sustained independently of other causes.

What this second type of phrasing does is give leeway for denial of coverage by the company.

For example, if the insured sustains an injury that can be connected to a medical condition, the company, under this second definition, could deny coverage.

Coverage for newborns is often limited under a policy's definition of dependents. Some policies cover children from birth; others set a time limit - from age 12 days to 20 years, for example. A definition with a time limit would deny coverage to children who have birth defects.

Policies are usually either "guaranteed renewable" or are "renewable only at the company's option." The preferred provision is the one that guarantees renewal.

Most insurance policies contain a provision governing rate changes. This provision determines when and how the company can raise rates.

In non-cancellable and guaranteed renewable policies, the company usually agrees not to raise rates until a specified age.

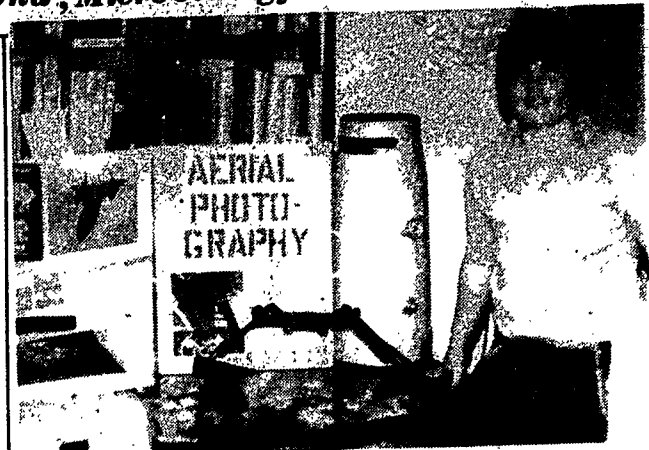

Other policies contain provisions that allow for rate increases when the company renews the policy. The premiums are usually higher for non-cancellable and guaranteed renewable policies.

It is important for consumers to assess whether they can better afford to pay higher premiums for a longer time, or lower premiums initially, increasing over the years. Sometimes the choice needs to be made between assured coverage and lower cost.

Care should be taken when choosing a health insurance policy. Consumers should:

1.) select a reputable company. 2.) select a policy suitable to their needs, and 3.) compare the policies of several companies.

Handle hams carefully, Home Economist warns

By SHIRLEY S. ROBINSON
Hancock EHE

Choosing a ham to fit your taste and budget isn't always easy. But once you've made your decision, and the ham is in your grocery cart, maintaining its wholesomeness is up to you.

Ham, like all meat, naturally contains bacteria. Keeping it safe to eat means: storing it properly, cooking it thoroughly and handling leftovers carefully.

With the exception of small (1½-3 pound) canned hams (not labeled "Perishable, Keep Under Refrigeration"), and dry cured ham, all ham must be refrigerated before cooking.

For best quality, keep a cured whole ham in the refrigerator no longer than seven days. Any cured ham cuts smaller than a whole ham will keep in the refrigerator safely for three to five days. Unopened canned hams labeled "Perishable - Keep Under Refrigeration" can be kept in the refrigerator up to six months without loss of quality.

Freezing is not recommended for cured hams because of possible changes in flavor and texture. If necessary, cured hams may be frozen one to two months if wrapped closely, sealed tightly in moisture-resistant wrap and stored at 0 degrees F. or lower.

In preparing and cooking hams, proper sanitation is essential. Improper sanitation and handling can cause bacteria to grow rapidly and may result in food poisoning. With hams, the culprit is staphylococcus, or "staph."

According to statistics on foodborne illness, ham is frequently involved in cases of staph food poisoning. The organisms involved in these illnesses usually come from humans.

In fact, staph grow in large numbers in your nose, your throat and in skin infections such as pimples, cuts and boils. They are also found in the air and on clothing. By themselves, they do not harm you.

Under certain combinations of temperatures, time and moisture, staph organisms can produce a toxin extremely irritating to the digestive tract. Unfortunately, you can't tell it is there because the toxin produces no obvious odors and does not change the appearance or taste of food.

If ham is contaminated with the toxin, staph food poisoning may result within two to four hours after the meat is eaten.

Staph food poisoning is rarely fatal. Symptoms are nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. Because these symptoms usually vanish within 24 to 48 hours, it is often mistaken for the "24-hour flu."

Good sanitation and personal hygiene can help prevent staph food poisoning. First, be sure your hands are clean when handling food. Never use your hands to mix food. Use clean, sanitized utensils. Always wash your hands and utensils after handling raw food.

If you have a cut or skin irritation on your hands, wear plastic gloves. Keep hands away from mouth, nose, hair and skin infections as you work with food. Since staph germs live in the nose and throat, cover your coughs and sneezes with a tissue. Don't let yourself be a source of contamination.

Use a clean utensil to taste food, not the used stirring spoon and not your fingers. Avoid licking fingers or eating while preparing food. Scrub kitchen equipment and surfaces well to prevent cross-contamination.

Do not use the same cutting board or knife for the cooked ham that you used for raw meat without thoroughly washing it first.

When it comes to cooking ham, use one of three temperatures, depending on the ham you select.

(1) If the ham is canned or fully-cooked, you may eat it without any advance preparation. Or, if you prefer it warm, heat it to an internal temperature of 140 degrees F.

(2) If the ham is the cook-before-eating kind, simmer or bake it to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F.

(3) But, if you are cooking shoulder cuts of pork like cured picnic or shoulder butts, heat them to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. Treat fresh ham, an uncured product, like fresh pork. Heat it to 170 degrees F. Internal temperature, too.

Learning disabled art on exhibit at USM

School children from all over South Mississippi are being invited in April to the C.W. Woods Art Gallery at the University of Southern Mississippi during an exhibit entitled "Art As Language."

The exhibit, made up of paintings by students in experimental classes for the Learning disabled or those with language and hearing impaired.

"Can handicapped children learn through art concepts usually transmitted through language? Can they express thoughts and feelings through drawings?" were questions Dr. Rawley Silver sought to answer in developing a testing technique.

She was attempting to get information from these students and to teach them certain concepts through art.

Silver developed a previous exhibition, "Shout in Silence" on the art of deaf students.

"Art As Language" attempts to show the processes by which these students learn. Because our culture places a strong emphasis on verbal skills, many people might be unable to pass the tests given language-impaired children.

The 50 children's drawings will be accompanied by explanatory text panels and some of the testing material used in the classes.

Visitors will be able to test their ability to express artistically simple concepts taught to the children.

The show, circulated by the Smithsonian Institution, will be at USM April 1-20.

The gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 2:30-5 p.m. on Sundays.

Hancock's Irvin Favre to receive "coach-of-the-year" tonight

By RICH ADAMS
Hancock North Central Head Football Coach Irvin Favre has been named coach of the year by his fellow coaches and will receive the

IRVIN FAVRE

Frank (Twig) Branch award tonight in Biloxi. Favre was nominated to receive the award by coaches from Harrison, Jackson, Hancock, George, and Stone Counties.

The awards will be presented tonight at the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in Biloxi at 7:30 p.m. by the Gulf Coast Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Favre has been coaching for 24 years, serving St. John, Long Beach, and Hancock North Central.

"I am elated...very happy to be selected by my fellow coaches," Favre said Tuesday.

"I owe a great deal of thanks to my athletic coaches in the past," he continued. "Without them, this award would not be possible."

"I have my family to thank for bringing me up right, and the city of Gulfport gave me the best teachers possible. I also owe this to the coaches I have played under, probably the best in the nation," Favre said.

"Just because I am receiving this award does not mean things have always been rosy," the head coach noted. "I've been in the valley before."

In his nine-year career at Hancock North Central, Favre's squads have a total record of 45-45.

"My past four years at HNC have been the most productive," Favre explained, in reference to his 30-11 record with the Hawks.

"In 1977, we had a perfect season of 10-0 for the regular season. That year we also attended two bowl games, and got defeated by a total of three points in both games combined," Favre said.

In 1978, the Hawks came up with a 9-2 season.

Favre has also been instrumental in Coast baseball carrying the St. John squad to the District VIII and Mississippi B-BB crown.

Favre graduated from Gulfport High School, attended Gulf Coast Junior College and graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi with a degree in physical education.

In 1970 and 1971, his ball squad took the Pascagoula River Conference crown, and he was named the B-BB baseball coach of the year by the Mississippi High School Coaches Association in 1970.

Favre also coached the Joe Graham American Legion baseball nine from 1971 to 1976, compiling a record of 102-33 during that time.

Tickets to tonight's banquet are $2 and may be purchased from the American National Insurance Company in Biloxi, Bubba Oustalet, Ford in Gulfport, and the Pascagoula Moss-Point Bank in Pascagoula.

Hawks score diamond victory

Byron Ladner connects.

Hancock North Central sluggers rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to record a win over the Lumberton Panthers at Hancock North Central Tuesday, 6-5.

A single by Alan Dedeaux drove in Ricky Peterson with the winning run in the contest.

Earlier the same inning, Byron Ladner was hit with a pitch with the bases loaded, enabling pinch-hitter Gene Breazeale to tie the score at 5-5.

Dedeaux earned the victory, fanning 10 Panthers and allowing nine walks in the game.

He allowed only two earned runs.

The Hawks, now 2-4 for the season, travel to Lumberton today to meet the Panthers on their home ground.

Rosato tops age group in Pepsi 10,000

MIKE ROSATO

By RICH ADAMS

A Bay St. Louis youth finished top for his age group in the Pepsi Cola 10,000 meter series in Gulfport Saturday, winning the event with a time of 38:22 for the 6.2 mile run.

Mike Rosato, 18, Huckleberry Road, Bay St. Louis, took top honors in the 15-18-year-old age group, according to Gulfport's Pepsi Cola Vice President Drew Allen.

Rosato was awarded a first place medal for his performance at the event.

According to Allen, some 350 runners entered the race, and he expects many more for next year's race.

"It was a great race, bigger than I expected," Allen said Tuesday.

"I was highly pleased with the turnout and it was a highly successful event," he added.

Top male runner for the day was Reedy Beauford of Pensacola, Fla., a 32-year-old who ran the course in 53:23, averaging 5:20 each mile.

The top female contender was Jerry Sukenis, 19, of Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, who finished with a time of 43:09.

Both Sukenis and Beauford will run in the regional competition in Kansas City, Missouri in April.

Bay takes track win

Bay High nosed out a win in boy's division as a school record was shattered in the pole vault in a track meet in Ocean Springs Tuesday.

Bay High's Allen Proulx vaulted 12 feet to set a new school record in that event as the Tigers amassed 56 points to ease by Harrison Central, Ocean Springs, Long Beach, George County, and Stone County.

In the discus, Steffel threw the object 130 feet, 4.5 inches to take that competition for the Tigers.

In the mile run, Bay High's William Washington streaked to a win with a time of 4:58.4.

Bay High's Alex Harrington outdistanced all others in the 440 yard dash to take top place in that race, with a winning time of 2:09.7.

Bay High is slated to meet d'Iberville tomorrow in a meet at d'Iberville, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Bay netters continue losing slump

The Bay High tennis squad continued its losing slump Tuesday as it dropped a meet to Ocean Springs in a 5-0 shutout at Bay High.

Bay High's Don Fayard and Kenny Gilmore were eliminated by the Greyhound's Danny Olesen and Stevie Carter in the boy's doubles match, 6-3, 6-2.

Laurie White of Ocean Springs dominated Kathleen Martin in girl's singles, 6-0, 6-2.

Kathleen Duke and Dianne Etinger dropped Tricia DiBenedetto and Brenda LaFontaine in girl's doubles, 6-4, 6-1.

Ocean Springs also defeated Bay's B team, 4-1.

Bay High will face OLV on the Bay courts today at 3:30 p.m.

Rocks, Vincent triumphant

By RICH ADAMS

The St. Stanislaus thinclads took 13 events and shared first place in another to run away with a victory in a triangular meet with Pascagoula River Conference rivals Vancleave and East Central Tuesday.

The Rock-A-Chaws accumulated 86 points, followed distantly by Vancleave with 30 and East Central with seven points.

SSC's Charlie Vincent highlighted the SSC with victories in the 220 yard dash, the high jump, and the long jump.

"Vincent was a triple winner...the entire team put out a tremendous effort. They really hustled," SSC Assistant Coach Howard Patton said Wednesday.

The Rocks are now 2-3 for the season and face Harrison Central in the SSC Stadium today at 2:30 p.m.

Senior Mark Koch took first place in the mile run, outdistancing all others with a time of 5:09.

Senior Dave Mead took honors in the 440 yard dash with a time of 54.1 seconds. Charlie Armata won first place in the 160 yard low hurdles for the Rocks.

Vincent won the high jump with a five-foot-ten leap, the long jump with an 18-foot effort, and the 220 yard dash with a time of 24.4 seconds.

Senior Danny Handshoe won the discus, tossing the disc 112 feet.

Exercise Important To Weight Control

Health Surveys indicate that many people are gaining weight or staying overweight on relatively moderate calorie intakes. Although overeating is probably the major cause of overweight, physical inactivity contributes greatly to the problem.

There are a few encouraging signs that desire for fitness, or health-consciousness, is replacing simple weight-consciousness in the minds of many Americans.

There is growing awareness that a sedentary way of life can contribute to degenerative disease of the arteries and to obesity and its potential complications, most notably diabetes, says a new pamphlet from the American Medical Association.

There also is a growing preference among Americans for a healthy, physically fit appearance. Emphasis is on condition: Body, skin and hair that are in good condition are widely regarded as necessary for good looks.

You may feel too lazy to get started on a physical fitness program, but it's probably the lack of exercise that makes you feel that way. On the other hand, you may think of yourself as active or energetic because you are always busy—too busy to take time out for vigorous exercise. Some of the busiest people in the world have found time for jogging, tennis or morning calisthenics.

There are all sorts of guides to simple home exercise programs. Or there is jogging or other such activities. Or regular participation in active sports and games, such as handball or tennis. If you are over age 30 or are unaccustomed to vigorous exercise, consult with your physician before starting a program.

But if you want to maintain good health and to keep the excess pounds off, a regular, vigorous exercise program is a must. For the rest of your life.

SSC sprinter takes off

Food stamp fraud closely watched

It will be more difficult to defraud the food stamp program successfully under the new regulations which went into effect Jan. 1, according to Edward W. Davidson, Southeast regional director of the food stamp program.

"One of the weaknesses of the original food stamp act," said Davidson, "was the absence of provisions that would allow program directors to deal appropriately with those who would deliberately defraud the program."

Under the new regulations, he explained, it will be the responsibility of the states and their district attorneys to enforce the food stamp laws. Individuals who willfully commit fraud can be dealt with promptly and effectively. In addition to being disqualified from the program, violators can be referred to the courts for prosecution.

Davidson emphasized that no action will be taken against anyone suspected of fraud until that person has been given a fraud hearing.

Food stamp fraud includes deliberately making false statements or concealing information to obtain benefits, altering coupons, or authorization cards, using food stamps to buy ineligible items, and trading or selling coupons or authorization cards.

The food stamp program is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service in cooperation with the state welfare departments.

Retired Federal employees to hear state president

Franklin Cuevas, president of National Association of Retired Federal Employees Gulf Breeze Chapter No. 1571, announced that Fred Gilliland, president of the State Federation, will be the guest speaker at the Chapter's April meeting.

Gilliland will speak on a proposed merger of the Federal civil service retirement system with Social Security and other topics of interest to NARFE members.

He will also report on plans for the state convention to be held in the fall.

The luncheon meeting will be at the Holiday Inn, East Beach, Gulfport, at 11 a.m. Friday, April 6.

Federal retirees and employees 50 years or older with at least five years of service are welcome to attend the luncheon meeting and to join the Gulf-Breeze Chapter, a chapter spokesman reported.

***** Hancock, Pearl River County Line ***** famous mecca for free-enterprise

By S. Grady Thigpen

Back when Pearl River County was dry, and Hancock county was wet, there were several "juke joints" or beer parlors on the county line on Hwy. 11 about a mile or so below Nicholson.

Back then, super highway I-59 had not been built. These places apparently did a big business on week ends with customers mostly from up in Pearl River County.

One Saturday night about 8 p.m. I happened to be coming north on Hwy. 11. When I neared the first of these county line places, I heard three shots apparently just ahead. As I slowed down, I heard a woman screaming. Suddenly in front of me I saw people rushing out into the road and running towards their cars on both sides of the road. I stopped to keep from running into someone.

There must have been 30 or 40 cars parked by the place of business and across the road from it and it looked like that every one of these cars was being started at about the same time and then a grand noisy rush to get away.

As I drove slowly by the place, I noted that every car was gone. I saw the owner of the place standing on the front with his gun in his hand. As I knew the man, I stopped and asked him what had happened.

He said, "They got to cursing and fighting in there and I could not control it, so I got my gun and started shooting. That is when they all stampeded and started running away as fast as they could."

Fortunately no one was hurt. I told him I'd heard a woman screaming. He said she was just scared. The man said, "I shot above their heads."

These places operated for a number of years. When beer sales were legalized in Pearl River County, these places all went out of business.

The beer joints on the county line south of Picayune were liberally patronized by both whites and blacks.

Joe, a black man who worked for me, was in one of these places one Saturday night when a man was shot. When I asked Joe about the incident, he told me, "We were all in the place drinking beer and having a good time. Two of the men got into an argument and began fighting. One of them pulled a pistol and shot the other."

As Joe did not explain or go into any details about the shooting, I asked him, "What did you and the others do when then man got shot?"

Joe said, "We all just stood there, looking for several minutes. Then we all ran out and into the nearby woods, as fast as we could go." I could not understand them waiting several minutes to run away, so I asked Joe, "Why in the world did you all stand there looking for so long, when you were so scared as you say you were?"

Joe said, "We could not run any quicker. The man with the gun was standing in the only door."

Joe and two of the others ran into the woods in Pearl River swamp. They got lost and could not find their way out until after day light the next morning. Joe said, "The mosquitoes like to have eaten us up."

The county line was a source of news and gossip as long as the joints were in operation.

Three young fellows got together and went there in a pickup truck one Saturday night. After a time, they got pretty well heered up. One of them got drowsy and tired. He went out to where he thought the pickup was that he had ridden there in and crawled into the back of it and lay down and went to sleep.

When the other two young men got ready to go home they could not find the third one. They looked everywhere and asked about him. Finally, they went on without him, thinking he might have gotten a ride with someone else.

On the same night, a couple of other young fellows had gone to the county line in a pickup truck. While on the way back home that night, they were surprised to find a man in the back of their truck knocking on the back glass of their cab.

They stopped to investigate and found our young man there.

They turned around and drove back to the beer parlor to find that the other two had gone. So they carried him on to his home near Carriere, arriving there about the same time as the other two.

Many other tales were told of the ups and downs of the county line area before beer sales were made legal in Pearl River County.

NO. 14,439
To Walter Opperman, a non-resident of the State of Mississippi whose last known place of residence, post office and street address is unknown after diligent search and inquiry, and any and all other persons having or claiming any legal or equitable interest in and to the hereinafter described property:
Lots 127, 128 and 129, Bayou Phillip, Range 16S, Section 14W, Township 31S, Range 16W, East of the Gulf of Mexico, containing 3.68 board feet, Doyle of sawtimber and 342 cords of pulpwood more or less. The above figures are not to be construed to be the exact volume marked.

Each bidder is expected to make his own cruise and to bid accordingly. Before bids are submitted, full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale and the submission of bids should be obtained from the Hancock County Superintendent of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, or the District Forester, Mississippi Forestry Commission, Wiggins, Mississippi. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

All timber to be sold has been marked with blue paint on the stump. Only those trees that are marked with blue paint are to be sold, and stump markings must be visible after cutting. Trees that are marked with "X" at head height were considered by the markers to be culls. Their volume was not tallied, but they may be cut at the option of the Buyer.

Proposals shall be accompanied by cash or check, certified check, money order or bid bond in the amount of five percent (5 percent) of the maximum total of the proposal, made payable to the Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. If a bid bond is used, it shall be signed or counter-signed by a Mississippi agent of a surety company qualified and authorized to do business in the State, as required by law. Cash or uncashed checks shall not be accepted, and if attached shall disqualify the bid.

All timber will be sold for when the timber contract is signed. The successful bidder must deposit with The Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, ten percent (10 percent) of the total bid to guarantee the faithful performance of each and every article of the timber sale contract. Upon written notice of completion of the contract in full by the Buyer, the Seller will return the performance bond in full, less any money withheld as damages by the Seller.

A sample contract for the sale of the timber is attached. Should a prospective buyer wish to view this contract, it is requested that he appear in writing ten days prior to opening of bids. If no changes are requested, contracts will be filled out and forwarded to the successful bidder for execution and payment of funds within ten days after award is made.

Bids should be addressed to the Hancock County Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. The envelope should be clearly marked to indicate that it contains a bid for timber.
The timber may be inspected at any time.
Detailed data sheets showing how the volume was calculated by age class, number of trees in each 10-inch diameter class, number of 16-foot logs per acre, and volumes are attached.
Representatives of the Mississippi Forestry Commission will meet all interested buyers at the courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, at 1:00 p.m., March 30, 1979, to show them the tract of timber and explain markings; how trees are measured, expected volume from specific trees, and answer other questions.
The contract will be for a period of 12 months from the date of signing, and will provide for 6 months extension by mutual agreement of the Seller and Buyer, in case inclement weather should disrupt logging for an appreciable length of time.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission does hereby fix $243.00 as the minimum acceptable price for the designated timber.
In submitting a bid, please mail your bid and bid deposit in an envelope addressed as follows:
Return address: Mr. Terry Randolph, Superintendent of Education, Hancock County, P.O. Box 299, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi

Research study seeks heart attack victims

"Can heart attacks be prevented" by lowering cholesterol? is the question facing a team of University of Arkansas researchers conducting a study of the relationship between heart disease and cholesterol. Most heart trouble results from arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A clue to the cause of arteriosclerosis may be that cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in the diseased arteries. However, it is still uncertain whether cholesterol lowering can actually prevent heart attacks. The University is seeking persons who have had only one heart attack in the past five years and who are between the ages of 25 through 59. Anyone interested in more information may call the University of Arkansas hyperlipidemia study collect at (501) 661-5291.
